

- Bri Youn (she/her), Data & Research Manager
Bri oversees all things data related from the Indiana KIDS COUNT® Data Book, to the County Dashboards and Snapshots. She believes data analysis is a vital tool in creating a better sense of understanding, which leads to collaboration, innovation, and equitable change in our communities.

- Taylor Johnson (he/him), Policy & Data Advocacy Manager
Taylor develops, supports, and informs existing and new communication efforts related to data, issues, and policy initiatives that impact Indiana youth. He also provides expertise and insight into a wide range of issues impacting kids and youth workers, including monitoring the status of federal, state, and local policy.

- Class Description for Indiana State of the Child
  - To improve the lives of all Indiana children, Indiana Youth Institute provides access to reliable data and resources to empower, educate, and equip those who impact youth. Our annual State of the Child presentations dive into the 2022 Indiana KIDS COUNT Data book to provide the best and most recent information on child well-being, so that leader, policymaker, youth workers, and advocates, like you, have a go-to source for critical data to create positive change for youth. Join us for the latest in youth well-being and how you can use data to create positive change for Indiana kids in your community.