

Jason Moore started his fire service career in 2000 as a fire protection specialist with the United States Air Force. After serving several tours in the Middle East he was hired as a Captain in the greater Charleston, SC region where he was promoted to Battalion Chief. Following his time in South Carolina, he was hired by the City of Bloomington (Indiana) as the fire chief in 2016. During his tenure as fire chief, the department has forged relationships, made major investments in risk reduction, and improved the service to the community earning an ISO Class 1 status. Chief Moore has been featured as a presenter at Fire Rescue International, Firehouse Expo, Vision 20/20 Symposium 7, and several other venues. Chief Moore holds two master degrees and a bachelor degree from Columbia Southern University and Strayer University and currently serves as the Chair of the Community Risk Reduction Committee for the Indiana Fire Chiefs Association.